Infinity Founder & CEO Steve Hickerson has over 40 years of executive bowling industry experience in sales, service, marketing, design and manufacturing of bowling alleys.

Steve's bowling career began out of college in 1979 as a formally trained sales, service and marketing representative for Brunswick Corporation, then a Fortune 500 company. From there his bowling knowledge and experience exponentially grew.

Mr. Hickerson became VP of Sales & Marketing for Mendes Worldwide Bowling where he spearheaded development of the original Mini Bowling attraction "Bowling" which became Highway 66 Mini Bowling by QubicaAMF. Mendes and Bowling were acquired in the merger of QubicaAMF

Mr. Hickerson joined Q-AMF and headed North American Amusement Operations. Directing all sales, service and distribution, he led the remarketing/redesign of Bowlingo to the present-day Highway 66 bowling. There he ascended to Director of Amusement Bowling Operations.

In 2008, Steve left QubicaAMF to start his own company Infinity, so he could put into action his vision for the bowling industry. Infinity re-imagined the DuckPin industry and created Diamond Duck Bowling. The Diamond DuckPin Social bowling concept has become the nuevo bowling center.

August 2016, Infinity started the DuckPin Bowling Revolution when we custom designed, manufactured, installed (8) eight DuckPin Lanes for the Original PiNS Mechanical Company, Columbus OH. The PiNS project was ground zero that revitalized an industry providing a new dynamic.

Recently Tiger Woods & Justin Timberlake opened T-Squared Social Bowling & Golf in Manhattan. Infinity's bowling attractions appeal to a wide range of venues, from Casino Strip Hotels in Las Vegas, Weston's Mission Hills to the Marriot in Downtown Philly & Hutchinson Island FL.

DuckPin is the perfect hybrid of traditional TenPin and Mini-Bowling. The attraction ONLY requires one-third the space of TenPin bowling. Infinity Duckpin is a game of skill; legend has it that a perfect 300 game has yet to be thrown.

Infinity is the absolute leader in the new era of social DuckPin bowling with modern methods of design, construction and installation. We stand ready to build your bowling alley. Join us, Let's create something special. From conception to completion to after-sale service & support, we do it all.
